VOICES

Eric West

Youth Pastor, Gateway Baptist

I hear from God mostly when I am in movement doing the things He's already asked me to do. My prayer life is less about "daily devotions" and more about trying to listen at all times throughout my day. That being said, scripture has been the dominating influence in my life in regards to learning how God wants to interact with me day-to-day.

Linda Smith

Teacher, Author, Presenter

I hear God best when I attend to His quiet stirrings in my spirit. He knows me better than I know myself and gives me timely images and words that meaningfully speak to my heart and circumstances.

Phil Wambua

Worship Leader, New Life Community

God's voice is most audible to me in the presence of His praise, in scripture and in people's testimony of who He is.

Cailey Morgan

Youth Pastor, Southside Community Church, CBWC Church Planting and Communications

I most often hear from God through scripture, through my mentors, and through quiet promptings of the Holy Spirit that encourage me to act on what I've heard.

Shannon Youell

CBWC Church Plant Director, Sermon Planner/ Speaker, The Forge, Victoria

God still speaks... today... to me... to you! In the stillness of the night. On the beach. In the sun. Through scripture, song, meditation, and prayer. Through my church and fellow sojourners in Christ. Through the Spirit who inspires, reveals, makes known. In these ways I have known: God still speaks.

Colin Godwin

President, Carey Theological College

The challenge is not whether God is speaking but whether I am listening and willing to obey. I have heard God in so many ways, including very occasionally through dreams and visions (which I have not always understood). Most commonly, God speaks to me by His Spirit through daily Bible reading, journal writing, and the words of friends and loved ones who walk with God.

Tammy Klassen

CBWC Youth Director, Pastor, Mill Bay Baptist Fellowship

I hear from God best when talking things out with someone else, usually my Spiritual Director. I also hear from Him in my sleep, sometimes through dreams and sometimes through being woken up by a persistent thought.

Larry Schram

Pastor, CBWC BCY Regional Minister

I hear the Lord clearest through three things: engaging His word, the confirmation of community, and the inner affirmation of the Holy Spirit whispering to me.

Susan Hunter

CBWC Administrative Associate, Spiritual Formation

I hear God most clearly through contemplation, whether I am walking outdoors, listening to music, or staring up at the stars late at night. I enjoy learning new disciplines that help me still my mind and heart so that I am open to listening to God.
